SENATE ADOPTS TARIFF DEBENTURE PLAN

FARM BLOC COALITION IS SUCCESSFUL

BY VOTE OF 42 TO 34 NORRIS AMENDMENT IS PASSED

TREASURY BOUNTY ON EXPORTED FARM PRODUCTS PROVIDED

Washington, Oct. 19.—The tariff debenture plan of farm relief was adopted as part of the republican tariff bill today by the senate, by a vote of 42 to 34.

Over the objection of President Hoover, expressed when the matter was under consideration last spring, the democratic-republican farm bloc coalition succeeded in writing into the tariff measure the Norris amendment, which provides a treasury bounty on exported farm products equal to one-half the import tariff on the same products.

With the house aligned with the president against the debenture plan, the senate action adds further difficulties to final enactment of tariff legislation. Intimations have been given by the republican leaders, but not openly, that Mr. Hoover would veto the bill if it carried such a debenture rider. House leaders have given notice they do not intend to accept it, and may prevent it from getting as far as the White House. The farm bloc attempted to meet some of the president's objections by changes in the plan. In answer to his criticisms that the bounty certificates to be issued by the treasury might do the farmer no good, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, changed his amendment so that the certificates would be redeemable at the treasury for 95 per cent of face value. Speculation in the certificates would be curtailed in that way, Norris believes.

The Nebraska also sought to answer the president's objection that it would lead to over production. He added a clause providing that when production reaches more than 20 per cent of the average for the preceding five years the debenture would be reduced by 20 per cent. A scale carries this reduction of the debenture up to 95 per cent when production increases by 90 per cent.

The debenture on wheat would be 21 cents a bushel since the tariff rate on wheat is 42 cents a bushel. For every bushel of wheat exported the treasury would pay to the farmer, co-operative association, stabilization corporation or other agency the bounty of 21 cents in certificate form.

By this means the coalition hoped to care for the exportable surplus of farm products, making the tariff directly effective for the benefit of agriculture. Its application would have a tendency to raise all domestic prices of exportable farm products, the group believes.

Mr. Hoover's objection to the plan was fundamental. He contended beyond the objections met that it is unconstitutional and unworkable. While he has made no recent statement concerning the matter, the senate accepted his objections as still standing when it debated the plan prior to the vote.

Included in the 42 republicans who were for the bill were: Borah, Brookhart, Cutting, Frazier, Johnson, LaFollette, McMaster, Norbeck, Nye and Schall.

The 28 democrats who voted for the bill included Walsh and Wheeler of Montana.

Paired for: Blaine, republican; Copeland, democrat; Glass, democrat; Shipstead, farmer-labor; Smith, democrat; Swanson, democrat, and Tydings, democrat.

HIGHWAY ROBBER SUSPECT SHOT AND FATALLY WOUNDED

Paynesville, Minn., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—George Day, a highway robbery suspect, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded here today when he was said to have threatened the life of Arthur McIntee, a deputy sheriff, who sought to arrest Day.

McIntee, who only this week captured Leo Humbert and Joe Hendricks, law breakers, following the second robbery of the Meire Grove State bank, said he shot Day in self-defense, when the robber suspect resisted arrest and threatened him with a gun.

Day was rushed to a Paynesville hospital seriously wounded in the abdomen. He recently came here from Park Rapids where he was alleged to have perpetrated a robbery.

FALL CASE TO GO TO JURY ON TUESDAY

FORMER OFFICIAL IS CHARGED WITH RECEIVING $100,000 BRIBE FROM E. L. DOHENY

DEFENSE PLANS TO CLOSE ITS CASE WITH TWO WITNESSES TODAY

By HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 19.—The case of former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall, charged with receiving a $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doheny, will go to the jury probably Tuesday.

The defense planned to close its case with two witnesses today. Closing arguments will be made Monday and Tuesday, with Frank J. Hogan and Mark B. Thompson speaking for the defense and Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomeroy for the government.

Fall is confident of acquittal. Prosecutor Roberts yesterday subjected E. L. Doheny to a severe questioning as to the oil transactions which Fall is charged with being bribed to carry out, and as to the $100,000 with which the government charged Fall was bribed. He did not, however, touch on the "war scare" defense which Doheny recited as his real reason for getting his company to bid on the Elk Hills naval oil reserve.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall's lawyers bolstered their "1921 Pacific war scare" defense today with a statement from Secretary of the Navy Adams that the reports of Admiral Albert Gleaves on the Pacific situation at that time could not be made public. Fall is on trial charged with accepting a bribe.

Captain Harry Stuart of the navy department answered the defense subpoena for the reports of Admiral Gleaves, one-time head of the Asiatic squadron of the fleet. Stuart said Adams considered publication of the documents would be "incompatible with the public interest."

J. C. Anderson, Los Angeles, vice-president of Doheny's Pan-American Company, testified today that Admiral Robinson told him, too, in 1921 that the "Japanese situation was serious," and that the navy wanted large tanks for battleship fuel oil storage on Hawaii.

Anderson was surprised, he said, when Robinson said the navy was willing to lease the whole of the Elk Hills, California, naval reserve as payment for the Hawaiian tanks and oil.

Suppression of Revolution Among Chinese Northwestern Generals Confidently Forecast

GENERAL MOVE OF GOVERNMENT'S OFFENSIVE BEGINS

NATIONALIST FORCES CONCENTRATED AT CHENGCHOW FOR PURPOSE

SKIRMISHES OCCUR ON HEISKI-KUAN FRONT IN PROVINCE OF HONAN

Nanking, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Suppression of the revolt among Chinese northwestern generals was confidently predicted today by C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the Nationalist government.

Support of Yen-Shi-Shan, governor of Shansi and of General Chang Hsueh-Liang, Manchurian dictator, together with reports that there was dissension among the revolutionists, led Wang to make his forecast with some degree of assurance.

Revolt among the ranks of the northwestern forces was inspired by objections to the government's attempt to disband troops in order to reduce the divisions from 160 to 80 in an attempt at economy.

Hankow, Oct. 19.—A general offensive against the revolutionists by the government forces will get under way within a few days. Nationalist forces are concentrating at Chengchow for this purpose. President Chiang Kai-Shek is due here Thursday.

Skirmishes occurred on the Heiskikuan front in Honan when a regiment of General Feng Yu-Hsiang's infantry attempted to move eastward.

Shanghai, Oct. 19.—When $60,000 (Mexican) demanded from the Wuhu Chamber of Commerce was not produced, Anhwei soldiers revolted today and fired upon the city.

All but three foreigners responded to the order to leave the city. They were taken aboard the British gunboat Crickett. None was wounded by the firing.

BOARD OF REGENTS MEETS AT ROCHESTER

LIGHTNING STORMS IN 2 STATES CAUSE DEATH OF 2 FARMERS

St. Paul, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Lightning storms in Minnesota and North Dakota late Friday claimed the lives of two farmers, caused the injury of two other persons and killed five horses.

Reuben Dehne, 30, near Hallows, Minn., was killed by a bolt of lightning which struck his plow and electrocuted his four horses.

Herman Johnson, near Grand Forks, suffered a similar fate while he and a hired man were riding on a load of hay. The helper was injured, one horse killed and the hay destroyed by fire.

Miss Sady Shapiro, 17, Duluth, was stunned when lightning struck her home with damaging force. She was rendered deaf for a few moments but recovered.

Falls City, Neb., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Frank W. Lamay, formerly of Brainerd, Minn., was here today looking for his wife and two children. They left Minnesota because they thought he was dead.

Lamay went into northern parts of Canada some time ago where mail and transportation facilities were bad. He didn't return when expected neither did his letters reach Minnesota. His family, first living in Missouri, was thought to be near here now.

PHRASE IS DECLARED AS BEING OFFENSIVE

Washington, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—The efforts of Whitney Warren, American architect, to inscribe the phrase: "Destroyed by German fury, restored by American generosity," upon the new University of Louvain library in Belgium have been termed "offensive" by President Hoover.

At his regular press conference yesterday, the president in a formal statement disclaimed approval of the attempt.

'HE'S SHOT,' SAID MAN AS CAR MOTOR BACKFIRED

"He's shot!" yelled a passerby. Three carloads of police came and discovered a man had fainted simultaneously with the backfire of an automobile.

CONTINUE TO LINK CAPONE WITH RUM RING

EXISTENCE OF CHECK MADE OUT BY CAPONE TO ONE OF HIGHERUPS OF SYNDICATE

VARYING VIEWS AS TO WHETHER CERTAIN BANKS HAD FINANCED THE SYNDICATE

New York, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Although a lack of unanimity appeared to exist today among federal officials investigating the operations of what was perhaps the most powerful rum syndicate in the country, the name of Scarface Al Capone, kingpin of Chicago racketeers, continued to be linked with the ring.

Existence of a $1,500 check made out by Capone to one of the indicted higherups of the syndicate and on which payment was stopped before it was cashed, was announced by Assistant United States Attorney James E. Wilkinson in Brooklyn. The check, Wilkinson said, was sent last month, but how Capone was able to send it from his Philadelphia prison cell, where he is serving a term for illegally carrying firearms, was one of the many problems still confronting federal investigators. The check was being sought among the seized records.

Possibility of a link between Capone and the unexplained kidnapping several months ago of Willard H. Elliott, vice president of the Hobart Trust Company of Passaic, N. J., was seen by some persons in the report that two men from the U. S. attorney's office in Trenton had gone to Passaic to confer with local officials. When Elliott returned six days later he announced that he was abducted by "Chicago gangsters."

An epidemic of eyebrow raising seemed to afflict federal authorities yesterday after each announcement of a development. When Wilkinson announced that he was convinced of Capone's connection with the ring, U. S. Attorney Philip M. Forman in Trenton, replied he had no evidence connecting the Chicago gangster with the syndicate.

There were also varying views among these officials as to whether certain banks had financed the syndicate which is said to have made a profit of $2,000,000 in six months.

Meanwhile, with virtually all the "big shots" of the liquor corporation reliably reported vacationing in far-flung corners of Europe, South America and Canada, rum purveyors here seemed little perturbed over the greatest general dry clean-up by the federal government in recent years.

Liquor, it was said, will be no less plentiful for the coming Thanksgiving, but it will be slightly higher in price. One reason, according to reports, was that despite the government's elaborate preparations for the demolition of the syndicate, it went for naught because the rum ring knew of the impending drive several hours before its inception. A super-efficient system of espionage made this certain, it was believed.

RUSSIAN PLANE AWAITS REPAIRS AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Held here overnight while mechanics repaired an oil feed on one engine of their giant monoplane, four young Russian airmen early Saturday were awaiting favorable weather reports before resuming their flight to San Francisco.

The aviators, members of the crew of the Moscow-New York plane, Land of the Soviets, landed here when engine trouble developed. The delay was the second in two days, the fliers having been held at Seattle Thursday by adverse weather conditions and a broken control wire.

Pearson Field, Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—The Russian plane, Land of the Soviets, took off from the army field here at 9:44 a. m. mountain time today for San Francisco.

NEW WITNESS IN MYSTERY ROLE IN PANTAGES TRIAL

"MAN NAMED CLARY" IDENTIFIED AS "COFFEE SALESMAN" REFERRED TO

COURT CLOSES WITH MRS. ROSE FOWLER, PANTAGES' SECRETARY, STILL ON STAND

By GEORGE H. BEALE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Los Angeles, Oct. 19.—A "man named Clary" assumed a mysterious role today in the trial of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater man, accused of assaulting 17-year-old Eunice Pringle.

The man identified only as "a coffee salesman," first aroused the interest of the district attorney, Buron Fitts, when Leo Zlackert, defense witness, said he was taken to Pantages by Clary.

Yesterday Garland Biffle, law book salesman, also a defense witness, told the court he was brought to Pantages by a "man named Clary."

Fitts said he was anxious to learn the reason for Clary's unusual interest in the case.

Court closed with Mrs. Rose Fowler, private secretary of Pantages, still on the stand.

"I heard screams," she said, describing events at the time of the asserted attack, "and I ran to a place where I could look down on the mezzanine floor of the theater building."

"I saw Miss Pringle standing there, just outside the door of the room where she said she was attacked."

"Did you see anyone else?" the defense asked.

"Yes, I saw a policeman," she answered.

By all previous accounts the policeman didn't arrive until Miss Pringle had rushed screaming out into the street and the officer brought her back to find the man she accused.

The secretary said she returned to her own office and Pantages came there in a few minutes. He didn't look as if anything unusual had happened, she said.

Jacob Rosenstein, publicity man, spent several hours on the stand.

He said he frequently saw Miss Pringle in Pantages' office as late as 11:30 P. M. He was unable to state positively that he had seen Miss Pringle either in April, May, June or July.

Garland Biffle, already under indictment on a charge of perjury as a result of his testimony for Pantages, spent another uncomfortable hour on the stand.

For the purpose of impeaching Biffle's testimony, the state called on W. A. Mills, a Stockton attorney.

Mills told the jury that Biffle had said he knew nothing of the Pantages case.

Biffle had testified that he overheard a conversation which indicated Miss Pringle intended to blackmail Pantages.

Mrs. Lois Pantages, the theater man's wife, was reported still seriously ill in her home from a nervous condition and pneumonia complicated by a bronchial disorder. She was convicted of manslaughter in the death of Juro Rokumoto, who died after his automobile had been struck by hers.

She is scheduled to appear Oct. 25 for decision on her probation plea and sentencing.

TWO LADS TRAPPED IN 'PIRUT' SHACK PERISH IN FIRE

Minneapolis, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Trapped in their crude "pirut" shack on the shore of the Mississippi river here, Richard Chipka, 3, perished and Clarence Gabrik, 4, was perhaps fatally burned late Friday when the hut was destroyed by fire.

LOBBY PROBE BODY TO GET EXPERT AID

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE TO FURNISH SKILLED INVESTIGATORS

CHARLES L. EYANSON IS EXAMINED, EXHIBITS FEEBLE MEMORY

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 19.—Confronted by evasive witnesses and a mass of private information which needs to be run down, the senate lobby investigating committee has decided to ask the justice department to furnish it with skilled investigators.

The request probably is to be forwarded to Attorney General Mitchell today while the committee is in recess until Monday awaiting further evidence in the Eyanson-Bingham case, the United Press has been reliably informed.

The committee decided the assistance of an investigator was necessary after hearing the testimony of Chas. L. Eyanson, of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association, who was charged by committee members with having a feeble memory. The committee frankly told him it doubted some portions of his story about how he was employed as a tariff adviser by Senator Hiram Bingham, republican, Connecticut.

New information in the Eyanson-Bingham case as revealed by the principals will be followed up Monday when the committee will call Kent Hubbard, president of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association, and Robert C. Buell, secretary. The committee has laid much stress on letters written by Hubbard to Eyanson while the latter was working in Bingham's office during the preparation of the tariff bill here last summer, and accompanying Bingham to the private sessions of the senate finance committee.

Both Eyanson and Bingham have said Eyanson was borrowed from the Manufacturers' Association to help Bingham in tariff matters, but the correspondence indicates Hubbard looked upon Eyanson as still being in his employ all during his activities in Washington. He commended Eyanson's labors in the highest terms.

Bingham did not tell the committee of $1,000 he sent to Eyanson for the work that developed by Eyanson. Bingham may be requested to appear again to explain that feature. He appeared at his own request Thursday.

Bingham's regular secretary, George Barry, also will be called for explanation as to why he took $335 as government salary obtained by Eyanson while he was on leave of absence.

SON OF HOOVER ANXIOUS TO BE REAL AVIATOR

Before he can become a student flier with the air corps, however, he has to pass the physical test. Today he will know whether he has qualified.

AGRICULTURE NEEDS FLEXIBLE PROVISION OF THE TARIFF

Ames, Ia., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Agriculture needs the flexible provision of the tariff under which the chief executive is authorized to raise or lower rates whenever he considers such changes necessary, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde said in an address here today.

Of 33 increases in tariff rates made under the flexible provision of the law, Hyde said, agricultural products benefited by 13 increases, 12 were for chemicals, four for earthenware, and the remainder scattered.

WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Waseca, Minn., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Stella Lust was under a sentence of not more than 20 years in the women's state prison in Shakopee today after she pleaded guilty in district court here to a charge of manslaughter.

Mrs. Lust said she shot and killed her husband March 29 last a few minutes after he threatened in a drunken stupor to kill her and their children. She said Lust's death followed a life of abuse after she married him when she was 17 years old.

Colonial Homes Surely Constructed to Endure

Those who are familiar with the construction methods employed by New England coast house builders of the Colonial period are generally impressed by the foundation work. Today, after a century or more, one may find these foundations unshaken. Labor was cheap in earlier times; construction material close at hand. Perhaps such massive bases for the superstructure were needlessly extravagant, yet one must admire the honest work that has stood the tests of time.

At East Winthrop, Maine, there stands a massive Colonial dwelling, 107 years old, that has one of these typical foundations. It is formed of enormous granite slabs which are laid up three feet thick. It is tradition among descendants of the original owners that three yokes of oxen were required to haul some of these great stones to the spot.

Quite frequently one will come across one of these Colonial houses with stone chimney bases 20 feet square while on the ground floor there will be tunnels through the heart of the chimney, forming unique hallways from one part of the main floor to another. Foundations and chimneys were built to withstand the onslaughts of floods, earthquakes and centuries. Fire occasionally razes cleanly one of these Colonial dwellings, yet the hand of man is always necessary to tear apart that honest masonry.

Moose Given Points of Superiority Over Horse

The Swedish moose is a dangerous competitor to the horse, says a Stockholm Associated Press dispatch.

Some years ago a harnessed moose easily took first place in a horse race, but was refused first prize because the judges decided it was out of the competition.

Moose were used as saddle and draft horses several centuries ago until prohibited by a royal decree, as it was feared a criminal astride a moose could easily outdistance his horse-powered pursuers.

A Swedish country gentleman caught a moose bull as a calf and broke him for mail service. The animal proved more practical than a horse, since no gates had to be opened, the moose clearing them all without difficulty.

At one time a military expert proposed a moose cavalry regiment, as setting that a moose squadron would put fright into a whole horse regiment. The scheme was left untried.

Tinned Stuff Used in Navy

More than 10,000,000 pounds of canned goods are consumed by the sailors of the United States navy in a year. Canned tomatoes take the lead in vegetables, followed by peas, corn and stringless beans. Among fruits, peaches lead, followed closely by pineapple, then come pines, applesauce, apricots, pears, figs and raisins. Figs are relatively new in the canned goods products, but the navy uses them to the extent of 540,000 pounds annually.

Thrifty, Lying Americans?

About one-half of the homes in the United States are owned by men with incomes less than $2,000. So, after all, this thing of saying Americans are not thrifty is based on imagination instead of facts. We guess that about 90 per cent of what we Americans say is untrue. We have developed into a race of liars, we regret to say.—Aitchison Globe.

Work is the Law

Like iron that lying idle about degenerates into a mass of useless rust, like water that in an unrunned pool sickens into a stagnant and corrupt state, so without action the spirit of men turns to a dead thing, loses its force, ceases to inspire us to leave some trace of ourselves on this earth. —Joseph Conrad.

Future of Coal

Printed Orchid Tissue Velvet for Fall Wear

Combination of velvet and lace promises to be prominent for midday's wear this autumn. Here is shown a smart one-piece dress of printed orchid tissue velvet, featuring a cream lace jabot.

Many Shades in Gloves for Cool Weather Wear

No less than 270 shades have been selected by one of the outstanding designers and makers of women's gloves for his fall and winter color card. Among these shades, the rich beige, brown, tan and silica tones are outstanding as are also the novelty colors that are being sponsored by Chanel, which are a new green, red and blue. A forecast of how the new glove styles will respond to these many colors is now possible. Special models are designed, including many by Chanel himself.

Much detail work is apparent in all the new gloves, and models for evening are being shown. The new styles include the one-button type; the slip-on, in styles with a strap to hold them securely about the wrists, or with a single button or two or three buttons; and the perfectly plain type with either straight or pinked tops. The gauntlet gloves, which showed some signs of revival last season, are being brought out in striking styles with fine detail work, such as rows of buttons, narrow bands, shirings and, most important of all, flared gussets and piped sections.

Washable Frock Should Be Simple in Design

When choosing a washable frock it is wise to consider ease in laundering and select a simple design, whether the dress is ready-made or made at home, suggests the New York state college of home economics, at Cornell university. This is particularly necessary with cotton or linen clothes, since these should always look dainty, fresh and carefully pressed.

Fine platings, circular flounces and intricate seaming call for tedious or expensive dry cleaning instead of a wash tub.

Finishes that are suitable for a silk dress are not suitable for a wash dress. Bias trimming of double thickness is hard to iron. If a bias collar, cuffs or bands are used, they should be of a single thickness and should have picot edges folded and basted in place. It is then possible to open them when they are to be laundered, and it takes only a moment to baste them back in place.

Before combining materials of different colors it is wise to test them first to be sure they will not run.

CHECKMATE

The stately old aristocrat was approached somewhat cockily by a rich and vulgar young man, who announced:

"Yes, indeed," was the reply. "Which one interests you? The maid or the cook?"—Boston Transcript.

SALADS FOR SUMMER

Summer for the housemother in many homes means just more work and worry. Try to make this summer one long vacation, with the children home from school, with planning each to do his share, the mother, too, may have some of the joy of the good old summertime.

Salads, sandwiches, cold drinks may take the place of hearty meals during the warm weather, with the family feeling better for the simple foods. Today every boy and girl is called upon occasionally to prepare a dish for supper on Sunday night, or camping trips and they, if well practiced at home, are happy to share in such entertainment.

To be able to mix a tasty salad, or prepare a rarebit well is an accomplishment of which to be proud. Everybody likes a fruit salad and they are simplest of all to prepare.

Mixed Fruit Salad.—Take one-half cupful each of chopped pineapple, nutmeats, orange and grapefruit pulp, halved maraschino cherries, with one and one-half cupfuls of sliced bananas.

The banana when well ripened is a deep yellow flecked with brown and no sign of green at the tips. Do not be afraid to buy bananas that are quite ripe, if firm, for they are best when very ripe. Nuts and bananas supply carbohydrates and proteins, pineapple has a digestive element, apples have always been known to keep the doctor away, so with this combination one may be sure to have a healthful dish. Serve with the following dressing: Take two egg yolks, one-half cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, two tablespoonfuls each of butter, lemon juice, vinegar, one of olive oil, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika and three-fourths of a cupful of whipped cream. Cook egg yolks, beaten with sugar, butter and other ingredients over water, stirring constantly. Cool, add the cream and pour over the salad.

And then he passed away.

Isn't It?

Scarcity is what makes this world interesting.—Aitchison Globe.

Featured Colors Best

When Selecting Apparel

There is, to be sure, some satisfaction gained from wearing the featured colors and shades, providing they are becoming. One should bear always in mind, however, that these exploited colors usually suffer from over popularity and before a short season has passed they are commonplace rather than distinctive.

For this reason the wise thing is to make use of them in connection with a dress, hat, scarf or other set of accessories that are to be worn only for a short time, rather than to base the entire season's wardrobe on them.

The more substantial items of the wardrobe, things that are likely to be worn throughout the season, are more suitably chosen in some neutral or permanent shade—beige, brown, gray, navy blue, black or white, while the more striking new color may be used, in the guise of a little hat, purse or scarf that may be cast aside when the freshness of the color vogue is over.

A Great Chance—and None to Take It

In his Washington dispatches to The Minneapolis Journal, Rudolph Lee calls attention to the tariff opportunity for the Northwest that has arisen in Washington, if only we had a Senator capable of seizing it.

The Tariff Bill is in the doldrums, continues the Journal editorially. The regular Republicans want it passed. The Democrats believe their political chances will be vastly improved, if no bill is passed. Between the two, holding the balance of power, stand the Republican insurgents, who have thus far acted with the Democrats in a Coalition that has a bare majority of the Senate.

But do the insurgents also want no bill passed? Are they ready to face their constituents in this region with the record of having prevented the granting of tariff relief to agriculture? Is Senator Schall, for example, prepared to campaign for renomination and re-election on that sort of a record?

Mr. Lee's suggestion is that, if some Northwestern Senator were to gather two or three insurgent supporters about him, he could go to the Republican regulars and almost make his own terms. He could have the bill rewritten about as the Northwest wants it and passed. He could achieve for the Northwest a great triumph by thus balking the Democratic scheme to prevent action.

On the other hand, if the Coalition holds, the farmers of the Northwest will see their golden chance for rates protecting them from foreign competition go a-glimmering. And for that disaster they will have their own Senators to thank. They will see a measure which gives them better than a half loaf, and which by obvious strategy might be made to give them much more than that, sacrificed on the unholy altar of political ambitions.

But where is there a Northwestern Senator who has the ability and courage to fight this tariff battle for the Northwest and win through? Where is there one who has not already sold himself down the river to the Democrats?

The farmers of the Northwest, who would greatly like to see the large concessions to them that are now in the Hawley-Smoot Bill enacted into law, will look in vain over the list for a Moses to lead them into the promised land. Schall and Brookhart, Nye and Frazier, Norbeck and McMaster, Blaine and La Follette, Norris and Howell—is there among them one Senator courageous enough and unselfish enough to rise to the situation?

Glimpses of Wings

In "Our Neighbors" Margaret Sherwood gives a sympathetic description of birds she has seen. She has that same love for birds which is revealed by Mrs. J. A. Thabes when she lectures on the birds of Minnesota.

Miss Sherwood states that the greatest of all privileges is the charm of the minor snatches of song, the momentary glimpses of wings, often of visitors we do not know, and yet half understand—we are wayfarers all!

A red-headed grosbeak comes to chat in friendly fashion among the twigs, then flits away to his undiscovered threshold. A hummingbird calls now and then for a minute at the threshold of larkspur or columbine; his lichen-covered home I can imagine, though I have no skill to follow his swift flight. The goldfinch means a gleam of celestial beauty, as does the yellow warbler; and there was one wonderful minute when a scarlet tanager paused in a birch, the sunshine falling on his bright body through the translucent leaves.

These and other winged visitants we have, in wavering flight or sure, now high, now low, drifting past birch leaf and hollyhock, shining visitants, making us wonder why a pallid modern imagination clothes angels all in white. The old painters knew better, and on Italian canvases and walls one may see wings of green and azure, splendid pinions of celestial creatures wearing gorgeous markings of moth and of butterfly.

Oftentimes quick wings pass, of we know not what, above pergola or skylight; swift, nameless shadows float over yonder waving green meadow; a sound of wings reaches our ears though we do not lift our eyes. In their very elusiveness lies the deepest appeal of this people of the air; the sordid philosopher who said that a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush was as grossly mistaken as his kind are wont to be, for a bird in the bush is worth twenty times twenty in the hand. When was anything worth having ever capable of being held in the hand?

Driving Risks Increase

WITH the increase in number of cars, increase in speed and the increasing number of drivers, traffic is bound to record accidents.

The Dispatch has been asked to say a word about parking of cars on streets and highways, owners neglecting to turn on lights. As one driver explained it, driving from the cities and viewing hundreds of headlights, dims a man's vision so that he has difficulty in avoiding unlighted parked cars.

The traffic is making it incumbent on a careful driver to watch his own car zealously and to also keep an eye on the other fellow. No driver can permit his thoughts to wander while driving and must pay strict attention to his job.

The pedestrian, too, has an increase of troubles. True, at times he feels like "standing up for his rights," but it is better at all times to dodge than to get hit.

In traveling their route from Russia via North Pacific, Alaska to America, the four Russian fliers have demonstrated that it's a stormy passage on the ocean and one hardly fit for regular route. Another danger there is that a machine, settling on the coastal water, is apt to be swept against jagged, rocky cliffs when the tide runs in. Waters of the inland passage are very dangerous and require special pilots in certain sections.

AN antiquated wood burner locomotive will carry President Hoover from Dearborn, Mich., to the restored Menlo park at the historical Henry Ford city for the dedication of the Edison museum there. It is hoped the old machine will operate better than the "Peppersass" mountain climber in Maine which failed to sing a proper swan song.

THE senator or congressman who thinks the people do not want the flexible tariff will likely learn something to his advantage by writing to some of the voters back home, says the LeSueur News-Herald.

The Scarlet Geraniums

By LAURA R. MONTGOMERY

(Copyright.)

"YES. She moved here three years ago and she has not made friends with any of us." Linda's puzzled blue eyes lingered upon the curtained windows of the cottage next door.

"But," demurred her guest, "isn't it the custom for suburbanites to call upon newcomers?"

"And another thing. She is always bragging about what she's going to do. She told me two years ago that she was going to paint the house. Then, when I offered to help her start a flower garden she refused, quite curtly. Said she couldn't bother planting seeds, that she liked better to buy from the florist."

"She hasn't filled her flower boxes yet and it's July."

Surprise dawned in Linda's face as she twisted forward to observe the little front porch of her neighbor. "Why that's right. She told me in May that she intended ordering from that new florist. That she wanted her boxes filled with big scarlet geraniums. She said her son was crazy about red flowers. He is away."

"And," remarked Agatha thoughtfully, "I want to tell you that when a woman looks like that woman next door there is a reason for it. I think myself that she's lonely."

When Linda had waved to her departing guest she stood on the porch looking over at the next house. Agatha was a shrewd observer and her words had started a new train of thought. Jane King had said that she had never before lived in a suburb or a small town. Perhaps, therefore, she hadn't intended to be churlish when refusing the neighborly little gifts of slips and seeds.

But, when Linda tried to think of some neighborly act, she felt undecided. After the lapse of two years it would seem queer to run up the path with a plate of cookies or cake.

"I know. I'll fill her boxes. I saw some wonderful scarlet geraniums at the florist's."

Jane King always waited to do her marketing until late and it was dusk when the car from Smith's shop stopped. The man had had explicit directions and he filled the two boxes with blossoming plants and was soon gone.

Jane's step was weary as she turned up her path. She carried two very large bundles, as Linda noticed. When the woman's glance fell upon the blur of scarlet she stopped short. Linda, watering her flowers, lingered near the fence, her heart beating more rapidly than usual.

"Oh, Oh," the words burst out and the packages dropped from Jane's hands as she bent over the flowers in rapture.

"Miss Linda, look. Some one has filled my boxes with the flowers I love best," cried Jane. "Come and look at them."

Dropping her little watering can Linda eagerly obeyed. There was no mistaking that tone. Jane King was thrilled with her gift.

The woman opened her door. "Come in," she invited. "I have kept to myself because—because—oh, well—I thought you people were comfortably fixed and might pity me. I couldn't stand pity, my dear," she murmured. "That would be unthinkable. But some one here must like me or I should never have been the recipient of such a lovely surprise." She stood opposite Linda in the dusk, her eyes searching the pretty face. "I believe," she said at last, "it was you. The very one in this whole town that I longed to know."

"But why," began Linda, "did you not see me?"

The widow touched the wallswitch and the room sprang into view. There were two chairs, a sewing machine and a long table heaped with materials. "I have lost everything. I had just enough money left to buy this little house and I thought I could manage until my son arrived. He has been in Africa with an exploring party and knows nothing of my misfortunes. The party expected to be in the interior for two years and the time was up six months ago. I—she indicated the heaped table—"I have supported myself by doing piece work because I didn't want to earn in any way that would become known. I take my work back when it is nearly dark. The factory isn't very far from here. And I bring back a new supply at the same time."

"You have opened up something for me," whispered Jane King. "I shall feel that I have a friend. Tell me you had those boxes filled. I didn't take the slips you offered me because I have had to toil at my sewing constantly. I'm not very clever at it," confessed Jane, "and I'm slow. Then, too, I wouldn't take the slips and not attend to them. Jack loves red flowers."

Linda, touched, looked down at the small figure and the delicate, needle-pricked fingers and nodded. "I ordered them because you once said you loved scarlet."

There was a step on the porch and a deep voice spoke. "Is this where Mrs. King lives?" A man rushed in and lifted his mother in his arms.

Linda looked at the two glorified faces and then fled into the darkness. Love had come back to the lonely neighbor and she had caught a look on Jack King's face as he shook hands with her that sent her heart racing.

MINNESOTA-NORTHWESTERN SEESAW IN COLORFUL GAME

GOPHERS BECOME AN ELEVENTH HOUR FAVORITE

JUSTLY CONSIDERED SERIOUS CONTENDERS FOR BIG TEN CHAMPIONSHIP LAURELS

BRONKO NAGURSKI IS SHIFTED FROM LINE INTO THE BACKFIELD

FIRST QUARTER
Minnesota, 6; Northwestern, 0.
SECOND QUARTER
Minnesota, 0; Northwestern, 7.
THIRD QUARTER
Minnesota, 3; Northwestern, 7.
FINAL
Minnesota, 26; Northwestern, 14.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—Minnesota's vaunted "audacious herd," justly considered a serious contender for Big Ten championship honors, became an eleventh hour favorite to defeat Northwestern here today when it was revealed Bronko Nagurski, the "Pulverizing Pole" had been shifted from the line into the backfield.

Nagurski, who rolled back the powerful Wisconsin line last year and scored a smashing touchdown to give the Gophers an unexpected victory over the title-aspiring Badgers, had secretly been trained in the backfield the first of this week and the sudden announcement that he would appear as full caused considerable consternation in the Wildcat camp.

A second revelation, scarcely less startling than the first, was that "Big Munn," hitherto a fullback, had been switched to the line to plug the gap left by Nagurski's broad shoulders.

Munn was used in both the line and backfield in his prep school days and it was whispered about that he was fully capable of minding his sector of any Big Ten front.

The 6,000 Gopher fans who followed their team into Evanston also were to be given a third important surprise

AITKIN WINS OVER LOCALS BEFORE BIG HOME CROWD

—the presence of Red Sommers, an elusive, hard running, accurate forward passing demon, as a half back. Dr. Clarence W. Spears, Minnesota coach, was said to have been thoroughly convinced early in the year that Sommers "would do" in the backfield but withheld his debut for this all-important conference game.

Northwestern by its imposing victory over Wisconsin last Saturday had been the favorite until the Gopher surprises were disclosed.

Dyche Stadium, Evanston, Ill., Oct. 19.—Al Moore, sophomore, was in Hank Bruder's halfback berth when Northwestern romped out to meet Minnesota here today in a game which will eliminate one team or the other for championship consideration. Forty-five thousand persons were in the stands at the kick-off.

The line-ups:
Northwestern: Baker, lf; Riley, lt; Anderson, lg; Erickson, c; Woodworth, rg; Marvill, rt; Oliphant, re; Hanley, qb; Moore, lb; Calderwood, rbb; Berghem, fb.
Minnesota: Anderson, lf; Kakela, lt; Pulkraabek, lg; Oja, c; Reihnen, rg; Langenberg, rt; Tanner, re; Brownell, qb; Somers, lb; Brockmeyer, rh; Nagurski, fb.

FIRST QUARTER
Marvill kicked off and Brockmeyer of the Gophers punted to midfield. Calderwood sneaked 8 yards around left end and Berghem punched the line for first down.

Tanner intercepted Hanley's long pass on Minnesota's 20-yard line. Brockmeyer punted to the Purple 20-yard line, Calderwood's return punt only going 20 yards, and a 32-yard pass, Somers to Brockmeyer, gave Minnesota a touchdown. Marvill blocked the try for goal.

Score: Minnesota, 6; Northwestern, 0.

After the Gopher kick-off, Calderwood fumbled on his 15-yard line and Langenberg recovered. Berghem in his own 7-yard line, Calderwood punted out to the Purple 40-yard line. Somers ran 8 yards around right end. Northwestern took the ball on downs on her 13-yard line as the quarter ended. Score: Minnesota, 6; Northwestern, 0.

SECOND QUARTER
Northwestern scored a touchdown in the second quarter when Haas speared a pass on the five-yard line and carried it over. Score at half: Minnesota, 6; Northwestern, 7.

THIRD QUARTER
Northwestern led Minnesota 14 to 9 at the end of the third quarter. At the start of the third quarter, Brockmeyer carried the ball 35 yards to the Northwestern 12-yard line, where Coach Spears sent Pharnier in to place-kick. Pharnier booted the ball squarely between the cross bars for three points, making the score 9 to 7 for Minnesota.

Northwestern on a recovery of a fumble by Brockmeyer on Minnesota's three-yard line, one the fourth down went over for a touchdown, and followed through with a place-kick for the point after, making the score 14 to 9 at the close of the third quarter.

KNUTE ROCKNE UNABLE TO GO WITH HIS TEAM

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—When Notre Dame's team entrained today for Chicago, Knute Rockne, its famous coach, was left at home for the second successive Saturday.

After a consultation, Dr. Robert L. Sensesich ordered Rockne to remain at home and in bed with his infected leg, while his team went to Chicago to play Wisconsin.

Several trips Rockne made this week to the Notre Dame practice field to direct his team's practice, did not do Rockne's ailing leg any good, according to reports, and it was decided that even an automobile ride to Chicago would be too much strain.

Milwaukee, Oct. 19.—(U.P.)—John Sisk, Marquette fullback, was mainly responsible for his school's 14 to 6 victory over Iowa State yesterday in the first night game ever played in Wisconsin. Sisk brought the 20,000 spectators to their feet when he ran 82 yards off tackle for a touchdown in the first quarter and returned a punt 61 yards in the third quarter. Iowa State's only score came three minutes before the final gun sounded after they had marched the ball half the length of the field by line plunges.

Baseball's record for attendance was established at the Yankee stadium on September 9, 1928, when 85,265 fans paid to see the Yankees and the Athletics play a double-header.

Eddie Onslow, first baseman of the Baltimore club in the International league, has played in that circuit for 18 seasons, establishing a record for length of service among minor league players.

Frank Bowerman, who caught some of the games pitched by Christy Mathewson, now owns a large fruit farm in Michigan. Although nearing sixty, he still plays occasionally for his local team.

The first southpaw in the big leagues to pitch a no-hit no-run game with no batter reaching first base was John Lee Richmond of the Worcester National league team, who turned the trick on June 12, 1880.

Denny Southern, speed king extraordinary, is, in the opinion of many, just about the fastest man in the National league in sprinting about the sacks. The Phil's fleet center fielder started his career as a pitcher.

HOFFBAUER SPEARS 40 YARD PASS FOR B. H. S. TOUCHDOWN

RACES FOR TEN YARDS OVER LINE ON PASS FROM ABRAHAMSON; AITKIN WINS 7-6

AITKIN MAKES TOUCHDOWN AND POINT AFTER IN SECOND QUARTER

Aitkin high school won over the Brainerd Blue and White 7 to 6 at football yesterday before a large crowd attending Aitkin's civic improvements celebration.

Hoffbauer brought the only score for Brainerd when he speared a beautiful 40-yard pass by Abrahamson and ran ten yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Hautala failed in kicking for the point after. However, his punting was an outstanding feature of the game.

Aitkin made its touchdown on a march down the field in the second quarter. Brainerd tried gamely to come back in the second quarter. The game was a spectacular one for the fans.

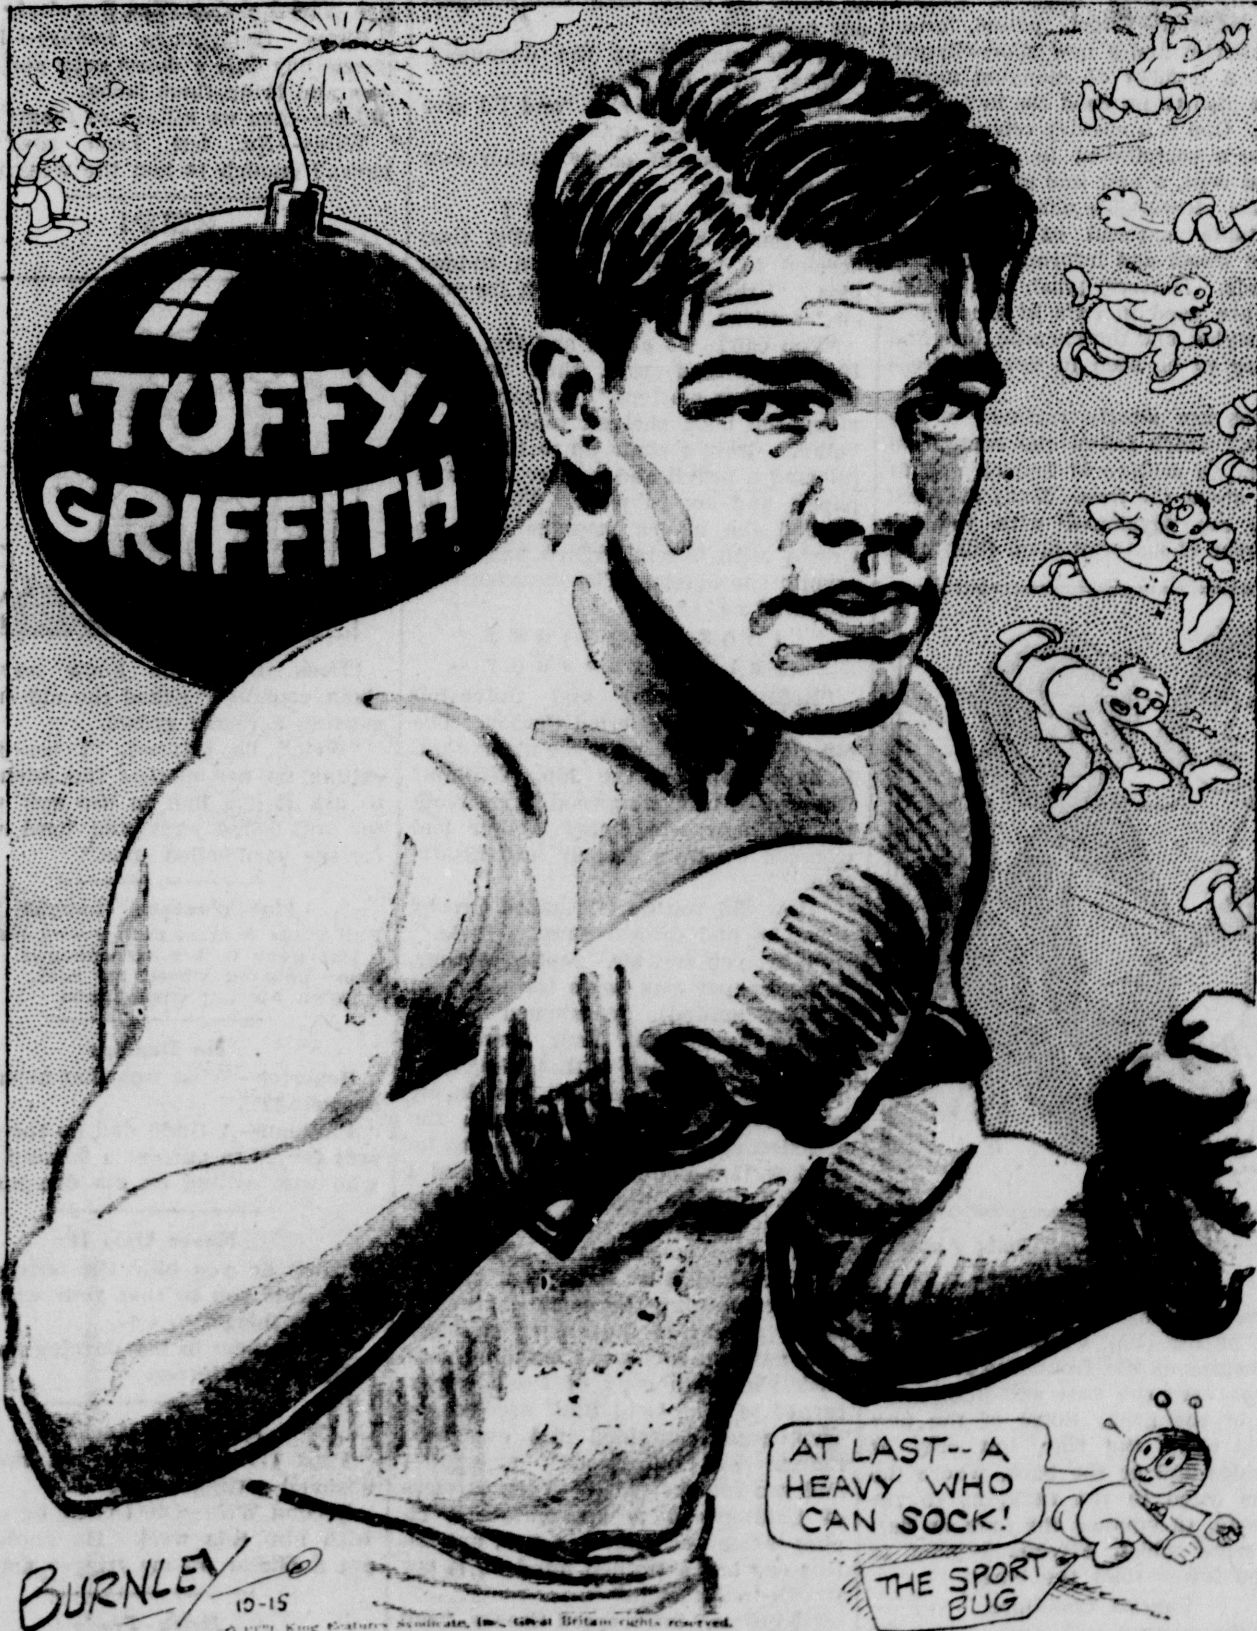

Aitkin slightly outweighed the locals as have all teams Brainerd has met this season.

The locals play their next game next Friday at Little Falls.

The Brainerd line-up yesterday follows: Lammon, lf; Garvey, lt; Heald, lg; Foster, c; Lamere, rg; Schobe, rt; Guin, re; Halvorson, qb; Abrahamson J. Gabiou, hb; Hautala, fb. Substitutions: Lukens for Lammon, Hoffbauer for Guin, Cass for Gabiou, Edstrom for Heald, Marshall for Hoffbauer, E. Foster for Hautala, Guin for Cass.

Blasting Going On!

By HARDIN BURNLEY

GERALD AMBROSE GRIFFITH, professionally known as "Tuffy," looks now like the answer to fan prayers for another Dempsey. Even before becoming a heavyweight, Griffith (Eastern reporters have been adding an "s" to his name, probably because he seems to fight like two men instead of one) was accustomed to charging in with both flashing fists loaded with knock-out charges. And since starting his campaign for Gene Tunney's discarded crown, "Tuffy" stopped Dr. Ludwig Haymann, of Germany, and George Cook, of Australia, each in the fourth round, after wallowing both in Dempsey's style from the opening bell. Besides, he stopped Johnny Risko in seven rounds, Big Boy Peterson in six, and Sandy Seifert in one. Of course, most of that opposition was pretty well washed up, but the whirlwind fashion in which Griffith won stamps him as the most consistent K. O. puncher since Dempsey began slugging his way to the top, more than a decade ago.

This Chicago youngster is making a great come-back after one of the most disappointing reverses on record. In his New York debut as a lightweight some months ago, Griffith was knocked cold in big time by Jimmy Braddock after entering the ring a big favorite because of his western reputation as a sock sensation. Braddock caught "Tuffy" with a terrible right before the Chicagoan could warm up and the latter looked like a busted phenom indeed.

Soon afterward, increasing weight made Griffith a natural heavy and he seems stronger than ever as he mows his way through that class towards the "big shots." Dempsey himself thinks "Tuffy" is about the most spectacular, fast punching, hard hitter that has cut loose among the heavies in many years. Griffith is already drawing the crowds who always respond to the fast sign of "Blasting Going On!" And "Tuffy" does the blasting with TNT in both mits!

Pigskin Phenoms of 1929

By HARDIN BURNLEY

MINNESOTA to the average football fan symbolizes the ultimate in gridiron muscular might. For five years Dr. Clarence W. Spears (the famed "Fatty" among all-time line-men) has been producing Gopher teams picturesquely and accurately called "thundering herds" in the Big Ten Conference circles.

Tremendous physical strength, weight, and size have characterized these teams that are throw-backs to the Heffelfinger-Hare mass play mastodons of the 90's. In addition, Minnesota teams (their canny coach) have plenty of playing "sixth sense. Many an-

that "The Nag" is a better asset than was the magnificent Joesting because Bronko is more versatile. The Maroon and Gold lost to Northwestern and Iowa last year, each by a single point; out, with nineteen of last year's varsity available this season, Minnesotans feel that their Gopher juggernaut will fully revenge those 1928 defeats.

With Nagurski the Big Pole as a battering ram or as a mobile Gibraltar in the line if needed there, Minnesota means to make a thundering bid indeed for the Big Ten Championship this season.

TO SURVEY LAKE LANDS AFFECTED

Hearing Continued on Petition to Establish Water Level at Cullen Chain

Board met in adjourned session on Saturday, October 5, 1929 at 10 A. M. All members present.

The Supervisors of the Town of Gail Lake appeared and asked for an appropriation towards the improvement of a road along the west line of said township, north of W. L. Road No. 7 for a distance of 2 3/4 miles. Commissioner Anderson was appointed a committee in conjunction with the County Engineer to meet with the Cass county board regarding this proposed road work with power to act.

Pursuant to notice, hearing was had on the proposed establishment of a water level at the Cullen Lakes. The motion carried that before any further consideration of the matter be given, that the petitioners furnish a survey and map showing what lands will be affected and it was agreed between the petitioners and objectors that such survey be made by the County Surveyor. Per M. Larson, Attorney for the objectors, stated that it is only fair that such information be furnished.

On motion $35 was set aside from the Special R. & B. fund to improve the road running westerly from T. H. No. 19 at the so-called Krech school house in Twp. 134, Range 29 as well as $100 for brushing out the right-of-way of the road running westerly from the so-called Senn's corner on State Aid Road No. 3.

Government Stages $1,000,000 Raid

Manny Kessler (left), of New York, alleged to be one of the directing heads of the huge liquor ring, which was completely put out of action when Federal and New Jersey agents swept along the New Jersey coast and captured an arsenal, wireless plant, numerous storehouses and thirty prisoners including Kessler and several notorious gunmen. William J. Calhoun, newly appointed New Jersey prohibition director (right) was in charge of the carefully planned coup, which was the outcome of months of investigation of the ring's activities. The tip was disclosed by the interception of a mysterious wireless message from an unidentified station. Federal agents finally located the station, learned the code and used the rum-runner's own sending station to trap a large rum-runner.

Dairy Hints

Barley is a good feed for finishing calves. In fact it equals corn for gains.

Any cream separator that leaves over four-one-hundredths of one per cent of butterfat in the skim milk is stealing money from the farmer who owns it.

Grass seems to have a stimulating effect on dairy cattle, and it is a matter of common knowledge that cows turned on good pasture increase in production.

Pasture grass is the natural feed for the cow, and it doubtless is the best feed which the cow receives during the year, but too many dairymen expect too much of pasture grass.

Any farmer sufficiently interested in dairying to keep 10 milk cows will find a silo profitable.

Do not forget to provide salt for dry cows and heifers on pasture. There should also be a good water supply and extra feed when pasture gets short.

Grain rations adapted to pasture are relatively low in cost, because they need to carry only a small amount of protein, grass being quite high in this important nutrient.

Quaint Shapes in Autumn Headgear

Dutch Cap, Fisherman Hat, Tricorn, Bicorne, Toreador Models Shown.

Fashions in millinery for the autumn this year have an unusual air of freshness, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. There are new shapes in bewildering numbers; new materials and new ways of using them; beautiful rich colors and great diversity in trimmings. And not only are the designs new, they show a general swing away from the non-descript toward definite character, toward models of appropriate shapes and materials for special costumes and occasions and achieve delightful distinction in the process. The trend toward elaborateness continues, showing itself in the intricate and subtle lines used, in fine handwork and clever treatments of fabrics.

The result, of course, is that a woman this season will require a wardrobe of hats to wear with her different dresses. She will need simple felt, tweed or cheviot hats to match her suits and coats for sports, travel and outing; among them, perhaps, one of the new pull-on knitted and angora cap-like turbans, which are very smart and comfortable. For daytime she will want some of a simple tailored style and others of more elaborate details. Her afternoon hat will be distinguished from those hats of general wear and will be expected to match or to harmonize in style and in color with the soft gown or ensemble for afternoon. And now that hats are again being worn for evening, she will want some for wear with semi-formal dress for dining at a restaurant.

Picturesque Designs.

The liking for picturesque designs is evident in new versions of the Dutch cap, the fisherman hat, the tricorn, bicorne and the toreador model, which reflects the Spanish influence seen in many of the latest styles in every phase of dress, inspired by the current exhibitions in Spain. Coming by way of Paris, minor changes and variations have developed and each designer is presenting her own interpretation. The fisherman hat has evolved into a diminutive fish tail which trims a hat of turban shape.

One requisite of the fall hat of whatever type is that it turns from the face. Because of this styling, crowns are lower and brims take either the form of a cuff or soft bandeau drapery or are wider and have drooping lines.

The fabrics of which the greater number of models are made are ordinary felt, soleil—a lustrous, supple quality of felt—velvet, panne, gros-grain, cheviot and a new short-clipped velour. A number of engaging novelties are also to be used for individual models. One is a cheviot velvet which is to be a compliment to the cheviot suit and coat, a new and smart sports ensemble. Reversible soleil is a light, comfortable material of which soft hats for street and informal afternoon are made. Hatters' plush and panne velvet are used in hats of many different styles, and the chenille, lace and silks are to be seen in novelty dress hats.

Shapes are mostly variants of the "turban," which follow the contour of the head in sculptural fashion and fit closely about the face. Many different models are fashioned with the arrangement of material upon this foundation.

Fisherman Hat of Blue Felt; Another Smart Velvet Model.

dation, widening at the sides, lengthening at the back or forming a cape that begins as the front line ends and extends over the ears and across the back of the neck. Some of the new models show the hair, but only at the sides and at the back, where the hat is fitted to the neck, as to the forehead, to balance the long or flaring brim, which extends beyond or droops lower than the ears.

Fabrics Combined.

In the cutting and applying of the material to give design to the hat, simple but skillful arrangements are used. In many models two fabrics are combined—as felt and velvet or hatters' plush and felt. The house of Maria et Andrees has done some unusually smart hats in two materials, one in which the plush is used for the turban crown, and the cuff, or up-turned brim, is of felt, fitting closely with a bit of ripple at one side showing the hair, and dropping far over one ear and rolling up on the opposite side. This same house makes a tri-corner of brown felt with a half-facing of velvet on the cuff, which fits close-

By H. IRVING KING

ARTHUR CAMPBELL was a star reporter on a big New York daily, and he was in love with Ethel Crosby—who was in love with him. But Ethel's father was a rich financier who had no use for newspaper men. Although he had been a friend of Arthur's father in the days when the two had "broken into" Wall street together, he had no idea of letting his daughter marry his old friend's son.

"Oh, Arthur," Ethel was saying as the two sat alone in the back parlor of the old-fashioned Crosby mansion, "I am really afraid we shall have to elope—for I won't give you up, let father say what he will."

"He was talking to me today about you," she went on, "and even went so far as almost to order me to forbid you the house. But I told him frankly that I should do no such thing. He called me an ungrateful and rebellious child and I cried, and he went off in a rage to the library. He's there now. He's got some business matter on his mind, I can see, and that makes him very unreasonable."

"I don't see why your father should be so down on me," said Arthur. "I have a little money of my own and—I've a good mind to go upstairs and have it out with him."

"Do!" cried Ethel. "Matters can't be any worse than they are now."

"All right," replied Arthur, "here goes for the Rubicon!" Arthur went upstairs, knocked on the library door, which stood partly open, and entered. Mr. Crosby looked up surprised and angry from the paper on the table before him which he had been contemplating with a puzzled frown. "Excuse my intrusion, Mr. Crosby," said Arthur, "but I gathered from Ethel that you might like to have a talk with me concerning my relations to your daughter. We are deeply in love. I have a small competence and have just been appointed Washington correspondent for my paper. My prospects are good, my character will bear investigation and, in short, I ask the hand of your daughter in marriage."

"You—you!" sputtered Crosby, "you penny-a-liner, you pauper! If you had gone into Wall street as your father did!"

"I might have been squeezed by old Collingwood as my father was," interrupted Arthur. At the name of Collingwood Crosby paused reflectively and glanced at the paper on the table. His whole manner changed. "Yes," said he, "Collingwood did ruin your father and there (tapping the paper on the table) is the same hand reached out for me."

Arthur glanced at the document, "Cipher, sir?" he asked.

"Yes," replied Crosby, "and I'd give something to read it."

On the piece of paper Arthur saw the following:

(5 6 3 . 3 ; 7 8 ) $ 5 :

He gazed at it thoughtfully, then seemed to be struck with a sudden idea. "I think I can decode it for you, sir," said he.

"You can? Go ahead and try, then. If you succeed—well, then we will talk of other matters," Arthur looked along the book shelves, took down a volume, drew a chair up to the table, selected a pencil and a piece of blank paper, and set to work. Finally he handed the cipher message back to Crosby with letters written under the cryptic characters. The message now appeared as

(5 6 3 . 3 ; 7 8 ) $ 5 :

"Raid Peninsular and Galveston Tuesday, will he?" cried Crosby. "The old villain. Well, we'll see about that. I have you on the hip, William! Checkmate to Collingwood." By reading Collingwood's cipher Arthur had changed Crosby's despair into exultation.

"How did you do it?" asked Crosby when he had calmed down a little.

"Why, you see, sir," replied Arthur, "a newspaper man has a trained mind (Crosby sniffed), accustomed to deductive reasoning. Your connecting the cipher message with Collingwood caused me rapidly to turn over in my mind everything connected with the occasion upon which I was sent to interview that eminent financier, and I recalled that on that occasion he was reading a volume of Poe's stories. Then I recollected that in Poe's story of 'The Gold Bug' there is a cryptogram containing the same characters which appear in the cipher message. This gave me a clue. I found on your book shelves a copy of Poe's works, turned to 'The Gold Bug,' applied the cryptogram contained and explained therein to Collingwood's message—and you see the result. Very careless of Collingwood to appropriate a cipher instead of inventing one; but unless one has a trained mind he is apt to fail to detect it."

"Quite so," interrupted Crosby, "and your trained mind, I understand, is bent on having my daughter. Well, you have rendered me such an immense service today that all I can say is—take her."

MUSICAL CLUB NOW HAS 384 MEMBERS

Is Largest Membership Brainerd Club
Has Enjoyed Since Organization in 1903

ACTIVE YEAR IN STORE

Year Books of 1929-1930 to be Distributed at First Program Sunday Afternoon

The fall and winter activities of the Brainerd Musical club are well under way. The executive and other committees have been very active and thorough in making plans for one of the most active seasons of their history. The year books for 1929-1930 are just off the Dispatch presses and will be distributed at the first program to be given Sunday afternoon, October 20, at the Elks' Temple.

This year the club has a membership of 384. This is the largest membership the club has enjoyed since its organization, it is interesting to note the membership in 1903 numbered 20. The first officers of the club, which was known as the Ladies Musical club were:

President—Mrs. W. H. Gemmell.
Vice President—Mrs. F. A. Farrar.
Secretary—Mrs. J. N. Nevers.
Treasurer—Mrs. Henry I. Cohen.
Librarian—Mrs. C. D. McKay.

The second president of the club was Mrs. C. M. Patek.

The present officers of the club are:
President—Mrs. E. J. Quinn.
First Vice President—Mrs. Levi Johnson.

Second Vice President—Mrs. G. D. LaBar.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. W. W. Bane.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. T. E. Jones.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. A. Erickson.

Assistant Treasurer—Miss W. V. Small.

The object of the club is:
First. To study and practice the best music.

Second. To advance the interests and promote the culture of musical art in Brainerd.

The membership committee this year has been very active and successful in securing new members. Mrs. J. A. Thabes, Sr., is chairman. Assisting her are: Mrs. J. P. Anderson, Mrs. G. I. Badaux, Mrs. D. E. Clark, Mrs. J. L. Frederick, Mrs. A. E. Gustafson, Mrs. J. M. Hayes, Mrs. John A. Hoffbauer, Mrs. O. B. Johnson, Mrs. W. J. Lyonais, Miss Emily Mraz, Mrs. C. A. The Public Health committee, of which Mrs. Nesmith Nelson is chairman, is another active branch of the Musical club. This committee takes charge of the Christmas Seals sale in Brainerd. Part of the funds realized from the sale of Christmas seals is used to promote orthopedic clinics in Brainerd. Thirty children have been sent away for special foot treatment, and have come back completely cured.

Assisting Mrs. Nelson are: Mrs. C. A. Ryan, Mrs. Henry Olson, Mrs. M. P. Gerber, Mrs. George Dennis, Mrs. Clyde Parker.

Each year a program is provided for the patients of the Deerwood Sanitarium in addition to gathering jells and jams for this institution. This particular part of the work is under the direction of the Social Welfare committee.

The Citizenship committee prepares two patriotic programs during the year for those attending the night school classes. They also assist in preparing luncheon and program for Citizenship day which is held every spring at the court house to welcome new American citizens.

The Civic Welfare committee gives assistance at Christmas and Thanksgiving time to needy people in Crow Wing county. It also cooperates with the County Nurse and Child Welfare workers. Some very good work has been done along this line.

The following are additional committees to those mentioned previously:

CONFESSES THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

August DePape Held Here on Clothing Theft Charge Turned Over to Iowa Authorities

Crow Wing county authorities today turned over August DePape to Iowa authorities after securing a confession from the prisoner that he stole an automobile at Storm Lake, Ia., on June 19, 1929.

DePape was arrested following the theft of six dresses and a coat from a Deerwood hotel. The clothing has been recovered and returned to the owners.

Since the charge against DePape in the theft of the automobile is more serious than the theft of the clothing, first rights to prosecution have been waived. Iowa authorities who arrived to return the prisoner to Storm Lake said DePape was suspected also of stealing other automobiles.

Transfer of the prisoner to the Iowa courts means a saving of considerable money to the county in prosecution and care of DePape's wife and three children while he is serving sentence if convicted.

Time "Wile" Away

"Wile" is the correct word in the phrase to "wile away time." It is used in the sense of beguile or gild. However, "while" has been used so often by error that many good writers now write "while away time."—Pathfinder Magazine.

CHAPTER XLVI.

THIS invitation meant another opportunity to see Marian, and Eddie thrilled to the possibility. Still the fact of Bernice inside, troubled him and gave an artificial air to his manner with Freeman. What he wished for desperately was that Freeman would go at once—before there was a chance of his meeting Bernice.

But the hope was doomed to failure. Bernice at that moment bethought herself of a handkerchief she had left in the car. By the sound of voices on the veranda, she knew that Eddie was talking with a man, and her negligent social instinct attached no importance to it. For all she knew or cared, Tom Freeman might have been a book agent or the milk man. It was her idea to step out to the car for a moment and return without interrupting Eddie's conversation.

But as she stepped out, Freeman took off his hat—an automatic tribute to her sex—and she saw that he was someone of equality with Eddie. Just for an instant she was confused, and she hesitated. The regretful thought came over Eddie that it was easier to introduce Freeman than to ignore her presence.

"Wait a minute, Bernice," he said, trying to appear casual. "Mr. Freeman, I want you to meet Miss Veressi."

As Freeman acknowledged the introduction, Eddie watched him sharply and saw that he was occupied in the back part of his mind with swift, unspoken astonishment. Bernice's dark beauty had a flash of quality that was instantly arresting, and to Freeman it was startling to see such a girl emerging from Eddie's bachelor establishment.

"Excuse me, please," Bernice said, flashing a smile.

All she wanted to do now was to withdraw herself from the little scene on the veranda, and she passed them again with a smile and entered the house after she had obtained the missing handkerchief. Eddie wondered what Freeman was thinking as the other's eyes followed Bernice through the door. Although he lived in the country, Tom Freeman was no rube.

"She's a beauty, Regan," he said with an admiration that was, somehow, tinged with suspicious significance. "Stranger in this part of the country, isn't she?"

Eddie's blood ran icily, but he decided to attempt no explanations. Everybody, sooner or later, would know about Bernice anyway. Under this new goading, his spirit refused to rise.

"Yes, she's a stranger," Freeman looked at him with a slow, peculiar smile. "You know, old man, you've got me guessing." His voice took on a puzzled drawl. "I didn't have any idea you had a lady visiting."

snob, no prig. He was a two-fisted, hard-living young Southerner. But his social life involved his sisters, his mother, girls like Marian Thorndike. Into that circle he had no intention of taking a girl who flashed as Bernice Veressi flashed.

"I understand," Eddie said, awkwardly. "You're all right, Freeman." His visitor was equally embarrassed.

And then a small boy of the neighborhood appeared on the scene. Without hesitation he walked into the house. Teddy wagged his tail and said, "Hello, old sport," in the best dog language, submitting in the meantime to being tied so that he was no longer a menace to officers of the law. Thus a little child did lead two husky bluecoats.—Worcester Telegram.

you. I reckon I'm a little bit up a tree—about that party the girls are giving Saturday night. Not knowing your lady friend they probably would think it funny if I invited her—and, well, if you're tied up with a previous engagement, of course, I wouldn't want you to feel that you were bound to come yourself. You see, I didn't understand—when I asked you—"

But Eddie understood perfectly. Tom Freeman was withdrawing the invitation. The blight of social ostracism was already falling.

Almost visibly, Eddie could see the hospitable friendship of Tom Freeman beginning to fade. Even among men in this part of the country, no less than with the women, the rigid standards of respectability seemed to be the custom. There was nothing Eddie could do to alter conditions—simply, he had to face them as they existed. Yet he knew in his heart that Tom Freeman was no

Little Child Led Where

Police Feared to Enter

"Teddy" is a dog, a police dog. Not a dog attached to the police force, but one of those up-standing-eared fellows alert from the tips of his paws to the tip of his husky tail. The "police" refers to his breed and not to his affiliations.

Lieut. Maurice A. Kelliher and Sgt. Oliver J. Barron found this out when they tried to persuade Teddy to let them enter his home in the absence of any members of the family. Teddy was just plain "tough" and the enthusiasm with which he indicated what he meant to do was very convincing.

Teddy's mistress, Mrs. Marcella Vachilla, had been stabbed and taken away to a hospital. It was necessary for the detectives to enter the house, but Teddy said, "No." That Teddy would have been a target for the officers' bullets or a victim of gassing seemed the only way.

And then a small boy of the neighborhood appeared on the scene. Without hesitation he walked into the house. Teddy wagged his tail and said, "Hello, old sport," in the best dog language, submitting in the meantime to being tied so that he was no longer a menace to officers of the law. Thus a little child did lead two husky bluecoats.—Worcester Telegram.

Coffee and Revolution

Companions in History

One writer points out that "what-ever may be said about causes and circumstances, the French revolution was not brought about until coffee as well as philosophy had come to Paris."

And, had he known of it, doubtless he would have found further significance in certain events in our own country. It was no other than a coffee house—the famous Burns coffee house, which once stood on the west side of Broadway just north of Bowling Green—that afforded a meeting place on October 31, 1765, for the rebellious merchants who adopted resolutions to import no more British goods until the stamp act should be repealed. Moreover, it was in the Green Dragon, most celebrated of Boston's coffee house taverns, that Paul Revere and John Adams, Warren and James Otis, met for those conferences so fraught with consequence in 1776 of the War of Independence.—New York Herald Tribune.

Weasel's Mixed Diet

A weasel's winter store located by a German naturalist in a poplar tree about to be cut up in a saw mill proved interesting. No fewer than 44 mice had been carefully stacked one above the other, in an orderly pile, with sand and mold between them to form an air-tight mound. These mice were in as fresh condition as if they had just been caught. Two magpies had been placed on top of them, and a large collection of acorns tied the hollowed-out cavity to the entrance, which was just large enough for the weasel to slip inside. In the same poplar was another store, whose owner was a squirrel.

Precious Stones in History

At Rome there is an emerald which was sent to the pope from Peru after the conquest of that country by the Spaniards. In Egypt finely cut gems, skillfully engraved, have been found beside mummies in tombs dating from a remote era. The conquerors of Mexico found many beautifully wrought stones among the Incas, cut and engraved with images from an early epoch of their history. The mythology of ancient India contains numerous references to precious stones, and they are frequently mentioned in the songs and ballads of that people.

Matter of Long Dispute

The true origin of the expression "O.K." is not definitely known, though several explanations have been derived from a Choctaw Indian word meaning "It is so"; it has been attributed to an Indian chief, Old Kook; it has been considered the initials of "Ori Korrect"; it has been called an error for "O. R." (ordered recorded). Another authority ascribes it to Aux Caves, pronounced o-kay, in Haiti, from which the best rum and tobacco were exported in Colonial days.

Crowds

As a matter of fact, the congregating impulse in human nature isn't what it once was, and for readily discernible reasons. In what we call our modern "community life," most of us are forced to congregate whether we like it or not. People must, of necessity, spend so much time in crowds—in streets, stores, trains and highways—that they are naturally anxious to escape from the turmoil in their leisure hours.—R. E. Sherwood, in Scribner's.

"Dragon's Blood" in the Arts

The "Dragon's Blood" of commerce is a red gum made from the ripe fruit of palm trees growing in Siam and the Dutch East Indies. It is used in the pharmacy and finds its way into the arts as a means for coloring varnish and also for use in photo engraving. It is secured from the nut by a process of steaming and crushing. The product is sent to Penang and Singapore and thence it is shipped half way around the world to points in Europe and America.

Pine forests do not produce ozone. Thunderstorms create most of it, and flowering plants next. Homes would be healthier if free-blooming plants were always kept in them.

Life Flees, Soul is Left! Brevity is said to be the soul of wit. But a fellow doesn't exactly laugh himself to death when he finds his bank balance is short.—Florence (Ala.) Herald.

A REAL BARGAIN IN

A NORTH SIDE HOME

We have a six room home with furnace, bath and garage, on good North Side lot, that we are offering way below its true value. Owing to the owner living out of town, it has been rented and permitted to run down. By spending a little cash and some labor you can own your own home at a low price, or can make a nice profit if you want to sell.

Price $2000; $200 cash, and easy monthly payments like rent.

The Cheering LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.
